August 2

Rik Van Looy was the great entertainer, but 'the Emperor' suffered a frame break entering the final local lap. In the end it was Oellibrandt, Stolker and Buis who got away. In the sprint, there was no stopping the former champion of Belgium. The group sprint was won by Jan Palmans. Initially, Jan was also crowned champion of Antwerp, but after a complaint, he was disqualified along with Frans Aerenhouts. The Antwerp title was not awarded.

ROADMAP

Schoten, Brecht, Hoogstraten, Merksplas, Beerse, Gierle, Lichtaart, Kasterlee, Retie, Dessel, Mol, Tessenderlo, Westerlo, Olen, Herentals, Massenhoven, Wommelgem, Borsbeek, Wijnegem, 'sGravenwezel, Schoten (160 km) and four local laps of 17 km. Total 228 km.

Petrus 'Peet' Oellibrandt
(°Beveren-Waas 01.12.1935 - +Sint-Niklaas

was a strong one-day rider. 'Peet' reached his peak when he won the 1959 Belgian Championship in Herentals, ahead of the still young 'Emperor'. In the race, Rik Van Looy set off on a long flight, but was caught on the local laps. And so it was the slender Waaslander who was able to snatch his first Scheldeprijs.

The start of the race was given at noon in Schoten and the riders went for a big circuit of 160 km through Hoogstraten, Kasterlee, Geel, Herentals, Nijlen. Once they were back in Schoten they had to accomplish four laps of 17 km each.

The race was fast and moved. Five riders broke away in the final lap. They sprinted for victory and Raymond Vrancken, who already won the race three years earlier, was the fastest one.

Raymond Vrancken

(°Tongeren 04.08.1932-+Tongeren 02.04.2011)

Raymond came from a fifteen-child family. He was a really strong young rider. In '55 he won two stages in the Tour of Austria as well as in the Tour of Egypt. In 1957, he turned a professional. He achieved a great career even if he never belonged to the elite. He was a humble guy from Limburg who won 14 professional races, most of them at regional level. His two victories in the Scheldeprijs (1958-1961) are in fact the most important wins of his cycling career. He also won the races of Helchteren, Wellen, Goyer, Grobbendonk and Overijse (1957), the 3rd stage of the de GP Marvan (1958), Tielt and Hoeselt (1959), Geetbets (1960), Borgloon (1961), Lommel (1963) and the Circuit of Limburg (1965). In 1965 and in 1966 he broke his wrist twice and this is when he decided to stop racing. Raymond became a beer merchant in Tongeren.

90 riders will take the start of the race but with a twenty minutes delay as a big traffic jam in so-called 'rabbit pipe' made it impossible for riders coming from East and West Flanders to arrive on time in Schoten. André Noyelle, Robert De Middeleir and Pol Rosseel arrived even later and can definitely not start. Peet Oellibrandt is the last one to take place in the bunch on the start line but today the last shall be first! Peet Oellibrandt and John Van Tongerlo break together in the final; Vic Van Schil counter-attacks, but too late. Peet is faster than John and wins the 'golden' Scheldeprijs, which is in fact his second win in Schoten.

The weather is really hot on that festive Tuesday 1963 in Schoten. Everybody has already the World Championship that will take place on August 11 in Ronse in mind. A race that will make history but the 85 riders who take the start of the 51st of the Scheldeprijs have no idea about that yet.

John Van Tongerloo, Huub Zilverberg and Hugo Hellemans attack on the local laps. Peet Oellibrandt bridges the gap on his own. He proves one more time he is the strongest rider. He attacks in the final part while Van Tongerloo, Hellemans and Zilverberg are no longer able to follow him. John from Meerle takes place 2, exactly like he did it the year before. Thanks to this third victory Peet Oellibrandt established a new record.

Jos Hoevenaars

(°Antwerpen 30.11.1932- +Wilrijk 14.06.1995)

Jos did not win a lot of races but he nevertheless became an excellent stage races rider. He also won the Flèche Wallonne in 1959, the Sels Cup in 1961 and the Scheldeprijs in 1964 and got many places of honor. He included won the bronze medal of the 1962 World Championship which took place in the Italian city of Salo (behind Stablinski and Elliott). In his quality of stage races rider, he won Naples-Rome-Naples in 1958. He wore the yellow jersey during four days in the Tour de France 1959 and finished the 10th overall in '58, the 8th in 59 and the 11th in 61. He took five in the overall ranking of the Giro '60 and wore the pink jersey during ten days. His professional career took place between 1956 and 1967. Jos died after a long illness when he was only 62 years old.

Willy Vannitsen

Vannitsen was really talented but he had a very special character and we cannot say that he trained as seriously as a professional rider is supposed to. Willy turned a professional in 1954 and remained in that category till 1966. His main victory is the Flèche Wallonne in 1961. He also won many other one day races (Tour of Tuscany 1958, Tour of Limburg 1957-60, the Three Sister Cities 1955, Milan-Vignola 1961, Tre Valli Varesine 1965...). He won two stages in the Tour (1962) and one in the Giro (the first stage of the edition 1958).

Ambiguity about Ward Sels' right to participate is the reason for a hectic start at this year's Scheldeprijs. Ward Sels is the only rider for the French Bic team and since the Scheldeprijs is a race for teams, not individuals, Sels shouldn't be allowed to start. The organization however makes an exception and thus is Sels one of the 105 riders starting in this year's Scheldeprijs.

A leading group of thirteen including Sels prepare for the sprint in Schoten. Ward Sels takes the victory by a length expects that this will seal his place for the World-Championship later in the year. Nothing seems to be less true...

Edward Sels (°Vorselaar 27.08.1941)

Ward was poised to become the successor of Rik van Looy. He became professional on July 3rd 1963 and immediately won his first four races. In his first full year as professional Ward was the revelation of the peloton: 19 victories, Champion of Belgium, yellow jersey and four stage wins in the Tour de France, stage wins in Paris-Nice, the Vuelta and the Tour of Luxembourg! He won many races amongst them Paris-Brussels 1965, Tour of Flanders 1966 and the Scheldeprijs 1968. A few serious crashes made him quite professional cycling in 1972.

This Scheldeprijs is very lively. The fierce crosswind breaks up the peloton into bits and pieces. Eventually, with echelon after echelon, 45 riders come together at the front. The other riders lose ground metre by metre, until the gap with the leaders reaches seven minutes and they abandon the race. Up front, Rini Wagtmans is very industrious, but the Flandria team, with Walter Godefroot and Roger De Vlaeminck leading the way, is too strong. Walter and Roger take turns to attack and in the end it is Walter who wins.
